Exports of Breadstuffs

WASHINGTON Aug 19—Chief of the bureau of statistics reports that total values of the exports of breadstuffs from the United States for seven months, ending July 31, 1880 were $1..,411,463 for the same period of 1879 $1..,381,153.

Relating to Silver Certificates

Constant desire on the part of the public for one and two dollar bills has raised a discussion as to the propriety of an amendment authorizing the issue of silver certificates to allow their issue in ones two and threes It has been claimed that this would supply a demand for small bills and at the same time utilize the silver or tokens representing it to be ... coin in deposit in the vaults of the treasury which will never suffer loss by abrasion ... Inquiry at the treasury department elicits the fact that officials look such a move would be very disastrous They would rather see the present certificates abolished than enforced by smaller denominations Mr Upton assistant secretary of the treasury gave his opinion to-day that if small denominations of silver certificates were issued it might result in reducing the treasury to a silver basis

The South Carolina Census

WASHINGTON Aug 19—It is understood that a new census of South Carolina will be ordered and under the law Superintendent General Walker with the approval of the president is empowered to remove the present supervisors and make new appointments without regard to those nominated by the president and confirmed by the senate so that the census bureau is fully empowered to investigate and verify returns when they are officially made The population as returned by the census of 1870 was 686 123 and according to returns made of the last census so far as received the population is 981 402 It is remarkable that some counties have a much less population than in 1870

Southern Census Frauds to be Corrected.

WASHINGTON Aug 19—While census officials are loth to admit that anything is wrong with the enumeration in the south, they express a determination to have certain suspicious counties re enumerated under the supervision of agents sent from Washington In this way it will be very easily determined whether there is any ground for such heavy gains. If sample counties taken in this way show fraud, probably the whole south will be gone over again with provisions of such character as to forbid cheating Of course southern politicians will resent any such move and if it is not accomplished if necessary before the confederate congress assembles again the brigadiers will forbid it on the score of economy or some other pretense

In the house of commons, Sir Charles Dilke, under foreign secretary answering a question, said that the government had received no information regarding reported strangulation of a lady of the sultan's harem who had taken refuge in the British embassy at Constantinople, but was subsequently surrendered He said that there was no reason to believe it true, and that the government had telegraphed for information

What Russia Expects

ST PETERSBURG, Aug 19—The Novoe Vremya says The opening of Corean ports would at once establish a flourishing commerce between them and Siberia supplying the Amoor provinces with provisions and emigrants If our representations are backed by a full force of our Pacific fleet the Coreans will hardly dare resist. In opening up Corea our fleet will render Russia a service which the heavy expenditure for support and improvements of the navy entitles her to demand

Complete Desolation.

BERLIN, Aug 19—A correspondent, who penetrated to the furthermost parts of Silesia estimates that in one potato district alone the damage done by floods amounts to 150,000 marks, while 200,000 acres of arable land and pasture ground were inundated by the overflow of the Oder in the neighborhood of Oppeln Three thousand acres of potato fields are covered with water The rain was so violent that in a few hours the river Neisse rose six feet In Posen an immense expanse of meadow is inundated Not only is grain destroyed, but the straw also. It is feared in some places that wetness of the ground may disastrously delay or altogether prevent its preparation for next year's seed In the district of Kulma, west Prussia, 24 hours rain completely ruined the harvest, especially wheat In some parts of east and west Prussia the fields are impassable, and it is impossible to garner what remains of the grain Potatoes are beginning to rot It will therefore appear that the official estimate of the German harvest prospects, recently published will have to be greatly lowered Rye is almost wholly destroyed Wheat and barley have little surviving value in the market For the laboring portion of the community the potato loss is the most serious, and the aid of the government is already being earnestly invoked

The Floods in Germany.

BERLIN Aug 19—Reports from the provinces in regard to the floods are worse daily Not only has Silesia suffered terribly but also east and west Prussia. The harvest is almost totally destroyed Things are so serious that divisional maneuvers will be put off for this year It has rained incessantly for three weeks in some parts

Papers are again full of disheartening reports of harvest in Silesia Posen and east and west Prussia Crops in certain districts of these provinces may be said to be wholly destroyed Many lives have been lost, railway and river embankments swept away, bridges down villages flooded farms inundated and vast tracts of grain growing land converted into lakes and swamps by torrents of rain A great famine is feared in all the above named provinces

Spanish Affairs.

MADRID April 19—The event of the day in Spain was a great meeting of leaders of the liberal opposition at San Sebastian General Martinez Campos was present. Very strong language was used against the Canovas del Castillo cabinet but no important decision was taken The liberals and discontented generals led by Martinez Campos are weary of waiting for the fall and resignation of the seven years administration Feeling that they cannot hope to attain their object with the conservative cortes elected in 1879 they try to make an impression on the mind of the king

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR CONCLAVE

Raper Commandery of Indianapolis takes the First Prize for Drill

The next Conclave to be held at San Francisco, probably—General Proceedings

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

CHICAGO Aug 19—Benjamin Dean of Boston was elected most eminent commander to day

The committee on location of next triennial conclave of knights templar report to the grand commandery in favor of San Francisco as the place of meeting in 1883 The commanders have not yet acted but as the report is unanimous they will probably endorse

The San Franciscans offered large inducements to the conclave it being understood that they agree to pay all expenses of knights after they cross the Missouri river on the way to California They predict that there will be an immense attendance of knights and visitors and are overjoyed at what they justly consider a great victory for the Pacific coast Their treatment of their friends which has been open handed and hospitable in the highest degree has tended to secure a favorable consideration of the plan to hold the conclave in San Francisco, and the inconveniences of hot weather and ill management which have characterized the meeting here make the knights desirous of better arrangement in the future

The question of holding the next annual conclave in San Francisco will be decided upon to morrow It is very probable that the action of the committee on location will be confirmed as there is a generally favorable opinion that San Francisco should have it The experience of the knights with the heat and bad management here will make San Francisco more eligible It is understood that no other city is pressing its claims very thoroughly

The conclave has granted charters to Eureka Commandery No 2, of Nevada and Dakota No 1 of Dakota The matter of a charter for Montana No 3 of Butte City was continued to the next conclave

Following is the only business transacted to day by the triennial conclave which is made public Benjamin Dean of Boston was elected most eminent grand master R E Withers of Alexandria, Va, deputy grand master Charles Roome of New York grand generalissimo John P S Govin of Lebanon Pa, grand captain general, Judge Hugh McCurdy of Corunna Michigan grand senior warden Wm Larue Thomas of Danville Kentucky grand junior warden, John W Simonds, of New York grand treasurer Thos L Parvin, of Iowa City, grand recorder The other officers will be appointed to morrow

The city is a ready well emptied of the vast crowd that have appeared on the streets most of the week

A L Nosler contractor for keeping the county poor of Coos county was burned out last week, losing everything except the clothing that he and his family had on His house was near Coquille City and caught fire from a burning slashing He had taken the contract for keeping the county paupers and had made purchases with a view to their support, but the inmates of the hospital had not been moved to his place

Sectional Issues

The New York Herald has an article urging that it would be unpatriotic for the republicans to adopt old sectional issues as the main issue of the canvass But the Herald does not explain how the republicans can avoid the sectional issue since it is the sole ... preser... ... the solid south —the section ... which the democratic party looks for nearly all its electoral votes and nearly all its members of congress However, the Herald says

The republican party possesses the great prestige of ... ing the national government safely through the desperate struggle ... its existence and cannot be robbed of it by any statistic of how many loyal democrats fought in the union armies The proportion of ancient rebels who are democrats to those who are republicans is at least ten to one Every state which seceded and rebelled in 1860 and 1861 is securely a democratic state in 1880 by the votes of men who twenty years ago were ... and traitors It is vain for democrats to wink these facts out of sight If the democratic party accepts the unpatriotic republican challenge they instantly become important ... very like ... decisive facts The ... then becomes a grievous ... fortune instead of a help to democratic fortunes It provokes a solid north to overpower it by votes as once it did by arms

FROM THE NORTH

British Columbia Indians Invading Alaskan Sealing Grounds

An American Vessel gone to Stop Depredations—Shipment of Furs, Salmon Treasure, etc., etc, etc

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

PORT TOWNSEND W T Aug 19—The steamship California arrived here last evening She arrived at Sitka on the 6th inst and found the Northwestern Trading Company's steamer Favorite at anchor also the schooners Ocean Spray from San Francisco and the General Miller taking halibut for the California market, and the Nellie Martin, from Chilcat discharging lumber A report had reached Commander Beardslee, of the Jamestown that a large number of canoes manned by Indians from British Columbia were on the seal otter grounds in Cross Sound engaged in killing those animals with firearms, and that the Alaska Indians were becoming very much excited in consequence, and were threatening to kill the British Columbia Indians Commander Beardslee referred the matter to Maj W Governeur Morris special agent of the treasury department, who with his wife are on board the Jamestown the guests of Commander Beardslee and wife Major Morris considered it better to proceed immediately to the locality named and for that purpose chartered the steamer Favorite there being no revenue vessel nearer than Port Townsend and was to leave Sitka on the 11th inst.

The same day on which the California left for this place the Favorite was equipped as a miniature gunboat carrying two howitzers and a Gatling gun Captain Beardslee accompanied Major Morris taking with him a suitable force of officer bluejackets and marines from the Jamestown, which being a sailing vessel was unfit for such an expedition It is also charged by the Hoonah Indians that the British Columbia Indians have been smuggling goods into Alaska, as well as killing the sea otter out of season and that these Canadian Indians come from Fort Simpson and the Hoonahs further say that if these Indians are not expelled by our government they will undertake similar action on their side, which will result in warfare and much bloodshed in Alaskan waters The expedition will probably be absent one month Depredations of this kind have been constantly committed from time to time and unless our government now interferes to put a stop to it and protect the sea otter grounds the animal will not only become extinct, but the consequences will probably be very disastrous to both nations involving as it probably will some national questions of importance

The California brought down a valuable cargo of furs belonging to the Northwest trading company which have been disposed of at Victoria. This company has met with great success and continues to establish new trading posts.

The California also brought thirty thousand dollars in treasure After leaving Sitka she went into Klasock on the 12th and took aboard two thousand cases and fifty barrels of salmon The cannery so far has five thousand five hundred cases of salmon put up, There are about one thousand Indians at Klacock.

The California laid over one day at Wrangel to enable Judge Deady and party to visit the great glacier on the Stickine river Everything was quiet at Wrangel No news from Cassiar

The California left this morning for San Juan thence to Nanaimo and Portland

Maud S and St Julien again—Their Rochester Time not Equaled

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

SPRINGFIELD Mass Aug 19—St Julien made the fastest time ever known in Hampton Park 2 15 while trotting the third heat of the free for all race to day The track is considered 3 to 5 seconds slower than Rochester so this record is considered really his best work

Maud S undertook to lower her Rochester record of 2 11¾ for a special purse of $3000 but failed signally After going once round the track she trotted an exercise heat, time 2 29 and shortly after undertook to speed, but becoming nettled by the loudly spoken word Go or by the crowd which overlapped the track on the quarter stretch, she broke immediately and was ordered back after passing the quarter pole by Capt Stone On the third round she broke on the third turn, and the whole heat was so unsatisfactory that the judges took no time much to the disappointment of the betting crowd Twenty minutes later she made a fine attempt and trotted without a single break and very handsomely time 2 19 The turns of the track are very bad particularly the first so that flyers can only make ordinary time while on the back stretch for some reason the mare seemed not herself being quite a different creature than when she showed up at Rochester

It is Because "These are the Same Principles for which Lee and Jackson Fought Four Years"

The Confederate Avowal.

A speech to which THE OREGONIAN has heretofore referred ... by Wade Hampton in Virginia quite recently as a plea for democratic harmony in that state is attracting a great deal of attention all over the country The speech was published in full by the Staunton Valley Virginian, and is being republished all over the northern states as an explanation why the south is solid for the democratic party Here is ... of its most notable passages given exactly as spoken by General Hampton

Consider what Lee and Jackson would do were they alive THESE ARE THE SAME PRINCIPLES FOR WHICH THEY FOUGHT FOR FOUR YEARS Remember the men who poured forth their life blood on Virginia soil and do not abandon them now Remember that upon your vote depends the success of the democratic ticket

It appears that Hampton in alarm has authorized the publication of an edition of the speech with this and other passages eliminated But the Staunton paper with a zeal as indiscreet as his own had reported him in full hoping his appeal in the name of Lee, Jackson and the cause for which blood was poured out on Virginia's soil would unite all democratic factions once more in a common cause The speech is a subject of general comment in the eastern press and several allusions have been made to it in the telegraphic reports The Chicago Times one of the great and strictly independent journals of the country, has this article on it

The Senator from South Carolina Mr Wade Hampton recently made a political address at Staunton Virginia which as an expression of political ideas by a representative southern senator, invites comment A report of the senator's speech is furnished by The Virginian newspaper of Staunton The occasion of its delivery was a gathering of politicians at that place with a view to uniting and harmonizing' two of the three political parties in Virginia—the so called readjusters' and the straightouts' The senator from South Carolina seems to have exerted his greatest powers of eloquence in exhorting the hostile clansmen to bury their differences and unite in combating 'the common enemy He came he said as one of the veterans of the confederacy, who had shared the perils of war with the sons of Virginia and was jealous of the honor and proud of the glorious heritage bequeathed to her by her Lee and her Stonewall Jackson' He came also as a democrat and a southern soldier who looks back to the time when he shared with you privations and suffering in the army of Virginia' He came in these characters to "voice the earnest hope and utter the fervent prayer of my heart that Virginia will not prove recreant to all her high traditions. Rising to a still higher strain of exhortation 'I adjure you' he said, by your traditions by all you hold sacred to lead, again Virginia as you have done heretofore, not always to victory but always to honor Will Virginia sacrifice the democratic party?' he inquired 'Will she sacrifice the south? Will she sacrifice possession of the national government?'—meaning possession of it by the democratic party' or by the south I stood four years by the side of Virginians,' fighting to overthrow the national government and I know the stuff of which they are made In those four years I never saw them falter Would they now prove recreant to the exalted teachings the ennobling inspirations of the glorious past? He trusted they would not He begged them to consider what Lee and Jackson would now do were they alive These are the same principles for which they fought four years Remember the men who poured forth their blood on Virginia's soil fighting to overturn the national government and do not abandon them now by abandoning the party for whose principles they poured forth their blood

'These principles for which the party that has taken Maj Gen Hancock for its leader is now contending, are the same principles says the senator from South Carolina for which the southern democrats fought during the four years rebellion Did the northern democrats also hold these principles during the four years when their southern brethren were fighting for them on many battlefields? If they did, what shall be said of the manly courage they displayed in seeking personal safety by the suppression or denial of their sentiments, far from the field of danger while their brethren of the same political faith were pouring forth their blood in its defense? If they did not, what since the war ended has converted them to the principles for which their southern brethren poured forth their blood in the war of the rebellion? Was that war, on the part of the national government a failure and on the part of the southern rebels a success? Did it result in the establishment of the principles for which the senator from South Carolina and Lee and Stonewall Jackson and the rest of the southern democrats poured forth their blood and in the disestablishment of the principles for which the national forces contended and was this disestablishment by the result of war of the principles for which the southern democrats fought the means of converting the northern democrats to those principles? If this was not the case what has made the northern democrats who did not fight for the principles or which the southern democrats fought converts to those principles?

The spectacle which the senator from South Carolina presents to us is an astounding one It is that of a party composed two thirds of southern and one third of northern men contending, for the principles for which the southern two thirds thereof fought during the rebellion but for which the northern one third thereof did not fight Still more amazing—this party has chosen for its foremost leader and commander in this contest for the principles for which its greater section fought a major general who did not fight for those principles but fought against them What has wrought this marvelous conversion of northern democrats to the principles of the southern rebellion for which they did not fight? What has induced the southern democrats who are still contending for the same principles and their northern brethren who have been converted to these principles to choose for their leader in this contest for the principles of the rebellion a major general who fought against them? Has Major General Hancock also been miraculously converted to the principles for which the southern democrats poured forth their blood while he was shedding some of his own in combatting against them?

The Times cannot understand it at all It has supposed the result of the war of the rebellion to be the establishment of the principles for which the national armies fought and the disestablishment (if they were disestablished which is not admitted) of the principles for which the senator from South Carolina and the rest of the southern democrats poured forth their blood It has never realized that in pouring forth their blood for principles whose application involved the destruction of the American nation such ... table democrats as R. E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson bequeathed to the feminine Virginia any honor or ... glorious heritage to be proud of It has failed to discern in the attempt ... their ... to overturn the national authority by the arms of rebels any exalted teachings and ennobling inspirations of a glorious past And it is unfortunate as to be unable now to see anything glorious honorable ... able or desirable ... for ... the national government ... by an alliance of northern and ... on the principles for which the latter poured forth their blood in an attempt to destroy the government they seek to possess

Was the war against the principles of the rebellion fought in vain Was its result a failure to uphold and establish the contrary principles Was the surrender of Lee Johnston Wade Hampton and the rest of the southern democrats a triumph for ... principles ... for which they poured forth their blood ... the senator from South Carolina who tells us ... democrats are now ... the ... party ... the ... rebel ... them ... likewise the distinguished ... who on other ... for the executive ... the same ...? A HANCOCK BLOWOUT

Some Specious but Gauzy Arguments

At the south Portland democratic club meeting last night those present were addressed by Mr Burney ... demonstrations recently from the states south and Mr W M Townsend of Yamhill county The burden of Mr Burney's remarks may be summed up that the south is solid ... on the republican party because that party had oppressed the voters of the south and had made so many promises to the colored people (Mr Burney ...) which promises were all broken so that at last these colored voters concluded ... the party that had given them their freedom that had conferred upon them civil and political rights as far as guarantees of these rights could be given by the letter of the constitution and to vote with and for the men who had opposed their emancipation or enfranchisement He declared that the real cause of such a small republican vote in the south of late years was that republican leaders, seeing no chance to carry many of the states districts and counties had gone over those sections and instructed all republicans colored and white to stay away from the polls in order to induce the north to believe that large numbers had been intimidated and thus prejudice the northern mind against the south Mr Burney never once undertook to make a specific denial or to disprove a ... one of the hundreds of well authenticated cases of terrorism and fraud in elections in the south which the leading southern men have been compelled to denounce before the civilized world Admitting that some of the cases reported have been exaggerated but others have become a part of the settled history of the country and Mr Burney's assertion that the democratic party in the south is by no means responsible for these outrages contradicts what every fair minded man who has read knows to be true

Mr Townsend started out by stating that his purpose was not to revile republicans or republican candidates but to reason upon the political questions of the day in a candid and friendly manner He even went so far as to admit that there were intelligent and honest men among the republicans and patriotic men too—men who had the same right to their beliefs as he After this plausible prelude he launched suddenly out into a stale repetition of the democratic slanders and nonsense about Credit Mobilier, DeGolyer contracts, etc going back at once upon his promise made at the beginning of his speech to argue some of the issues of the day never touching one of them in the course of his remarks except to pervert the record of both parties upon the tariff question and to denounce the legal tender act though he made no attempt to define his position or that of his party upon the question of finances His argument that the doctrine of state rights as held by the democratic party does not justify nor lead to secession, but that the south found the authority to secede in the declaration of independence was about as thin as could well be made though it was by no means new that perversion of the immortal document having been made years ago by democratic speakers to justify the attempt of the south to destroy the government Mr Townsend's closing remarks were couched in some very fine sentences in which he described the ease, the brotherly love the progress and prosperity that would come to the country if Hancock should be elected The picture as he painted it was far from that presented by the nation under the last democratic administration when the country was in a state of anarchy the government credit gone, the public treasury plundered, the arms of the nation stolen to use against the nation's forts and to kill her defenders The past experience of the country teaches a lesson which these fine drawn pictures of democratic speakers will not cause the people to forget

There were calls made at the conclusion of Mr Townsend's speech for Dr Brenan and Governor Thayer, both of whom occupied seats on the rostrum, but the hour being late our reporter was unable to remain to hear what they had to say, but presume they at least put in a word, as did Burney and Townsend in favor of the preservation of the habeas corpus Dr. Steen who had been announced as one of the speakers, and who is claimed as a new convert from republicanism established another principle dear to the democratic heart—that of the alibi He had gone to Albany

H C Caldwell late republican candidate for state senator for Josephine county has served notice on J B Sifers democrat, who received a small majority of votes at the June election that he will contest his right to a seat in the senate on the ground that Sifers' residence is not in the county The merits of the case can only be reached by ascertaining the exact locality of the boundary line between Josephine and Curry Meantime while the contest is pending somebody's prospects for election to the U S senate may be materially affected

Freight is being conveyed to and from Crescent City and Illinois valley by teams Travel is by the old road The survey for the new road has been completed and the work of grading, and bridge building will soon be commenced The arrangements now completed seem to warrant the construction of this road within the next year Should there be no failure the whole trade of this county will be diverted over the new route Merchants and shippers will save at least half of their present expense for freighting by shipping by way of Crescent City and the people of the whole county will derive benefit from the change

While the immigration is pouring into eastern Oregon and Washington territory those seeking homes seem totally oblivious to the fact that in southern Oregon there are still good localities for establishing homesteads on unoccupied lands Improved farms are also offered at low prices and on the most liberal terms This is especially true in regard to Josephine county Hundreds of families could secure lands here upon which comfortable homes could be established with a little patience and reasonable industry Wherever an acre of land can be found accessible to irrigation, it will in a few years be valuable beyond the most enthusiastic estimate of the present residents of the country

FRIDAY MORNING, AUG 20 1880

THE CONTEST IN OREGON.

No one doubts that Oregon will cast its electoral vote for Garfield. It will take an effort to get a big majority but the effort will be made. There is no reason why the majority should not be as large as it was in June. We think it will be larger. The reasons are several. First, the political status of Oregon, unknown prior to the June election, is settled now. Democrats know they cannot carry the State. Aware as they are that it is only a question how large the republican majority will be, they cannot work for November as they did for June with any real expectation of a majority on their side. In like manner the same thing which convinces them of the hopelessness of winning the state, increases the confidence of the republicans. All republicans feel, however, that the contest is sufficiently close to require an active vigilance on their part; hence over-confidence will not be allowed to bring them to defeat. Again, it is certain from the course of the vote that republican strength in the state has been increasing steadily during a considerable time past. In November the total vote will be nearly or quite two thousand larger than it was in June; and from the tendency during two years past it is only fair to presume that the increase will show further republican gains. The total vote in November will be fully 40,000, and on this full vote the republican majority can hardly be less than 1500, and may be 2000. This is the judgment of candid and well informed persons of both parties. In order, however, that the majority may be as large as possible, it will be well for republicans throughout the state to avoid the mistake of supposing that it is unnecessary to take an active interest in the contest. But we do not believe there is danger of such mistake. The spirit of republicans is up. Issues are clearly presented. It cannot be questioned that for several years a sort of haze had enveloped the situation. Many had not been able to see clearly. The democratic party came with specious promises. Large numbers of republicans, dissatisfied for various reasons with the management of their party, accepted the democratic pledges of reform. Not only this, but they listened when democratic leaders falsely proposed to cast the past behind them, offered to accept national principles and appealed to the country to stop sectional agitation. These were the conditions under which the presidential contest of four years ago took place. Since then much has happened to dispel illusions and to clarify the situation. Confident in its strength and believing that at last it was about to grasp supreme power, the democratic party controlling the present congress, forced the extra session and began its attack on national principles and on the results of the great struggle to maintain national against state supremacy. This awakened and united republicans in all parts of the country. They had not consented to the establishment of the principles of the state sovereignty rebellion as the rightful interpretation of the theory and policy of our government. The democratic party, controlled by the confederate south, disclosed its purposes and tendencies too early. Alarmed by the consequences of its undue haste, it has now put forward a union soldier for a mask or disguise once more. But the record of the extra session is too recent. When the votes are counted this fall it will be found that the northern states have refused to condone it.

VOLCANIC ACTION.

An article by M. Radau, a French scientist, translated into English and published in the current number of the Popular Science Monthly, supports the theory that volcanic eruptions are the result of steam pressure within the earth; and the reasoning goes far towards distinctly proving the theory. Geographical distribution of volcanoes is itself suggestive of an intimate connection between volcanic phenomena and water. Most volcanoes are near the sea, the vapors which rise from volcanoes are steam vapors, and it is easy and reasonable to suppose that either through percolation by fissures or by transudation under the enormous pressure it sustains, sea water passes into great subterranean reservoirs, where, coming in contact with incandescent lava at great depths, it is vaporized, and the accumulation of steam, superheated beyond our conception, causes from time to time an explosion of these subterranean boilers. Marine-salts and other elements, recognized as the result of decomposition of sea-water, have often been discovered in chemical analysis of the composition of matter ejected by volcanoes. By the actual pressure of steam, or the explosion of superheated steam, a force is generated which is immeasurable as it is irresistible. Of the earth's internal heat there are incontestable proofs, furnished not only by artificial excavations, but by hot springs and volcanic phenomena generally. The prodigious quantities of matter emitted by active volcanoes indicate subterranean reservoirs of great extent; in fact prove their existence. A volcano in Iceland in a single year threw out matter equal in volume to Mount Blanc.

Although the heat of lava streams is rapidly dissipated by contact with air, the temperature of the incandescent mass at the bottom of the crater may be estimated at not less than two thousand degrees;—for refractory metals are known to melt at once in contact with molten lava. The presence of steam generated by matter thus heated would be ample to account for the enormous explosive force of eruptions, which of course would break forth at customary points, that is, at points of least resistance. Volcanoes therefore would be the great chimneys or valves through which these forces of potential energy, created by the contact of water and heat, make their escape. The theory is not altogether a new one, but it is developed by the French scientist with a wealth of illustration which is very striking, and which may be said to amount as nearly to a practical demonstration as anything of the kind can be.

Peabody's London fund, which was $2,500,000 at first, has swelled to more than $3,500,000. In the meantime more than 10,000 people have been furnished pleasant, comfortable and healthy apartments at less rates than the meanest tenement houses exact. Peabody was the man who, in the interests of humanity, administered upon his own estate and so placed it that his heirs are counted by tens of thousands, while at the same time the principal is steadily increasing. Some men are content to think that after life's outlays are over their names will be perpetuated in marble or on bronze. It would be well if our very rich men would look over the work which Peabody performed. They have not long to live. Ten years will silence the voices of hundreds of them; in twenty years hardly one will be left. What they are to do must be quickly performed. A hundred thousand dollars is as good to leave their relatives as a hundred millions; while if they make the poor their heirs, the act will cover their memories, as their graves, with blessings. Another beneficence, the Peabody educational fund in America, is doing its work of good and perpetuating the name of its founder. These are acts which bear perpetual fruit and leave a name which, as a poet touchingly expresses it "smells sweet and blossoms in the dust."

Examination of the recent report of the commission of internal revenue discloses a very noticeable change in the relative amounts of revenue contributed by the different states to this branch of the treasury since 1865-6, when the receipts were largest. New York paid in that year $71,322,500. Next in order came Pennsylvania with $39,541,600, Ohio with $35,732,500, and Massachusetts with $34,950,000, while Illinois paid $15,397,000 and New Jersey $10,192,000. In those days incomes were taxed, and very few articles of value were exempt from the unwelcome touch of the assessor and collector. Now the tax is derived chiefly from tobacco, spirits and fermented liquors, and under the present régime the relative positions of the states above named are altered in a rather surprising manner. Illinois stands at the head, paying $19,470,600 of the tax of 1878-9; Ohio and New York follow closely side by side with, respectively, $15,894,000 and $15,445,000. Pennsylvania recedes to the sixth place with $5,916,800; Virginia is fifth, with $6,448,000; Massachusetts is eleventh, with $2,266,000, being ranked by Missouri, New Jersey and Wisconsin, which stand eighth, ninth and tenth in the list. It is whisky, chiefly, that gives Illinois the pre-eminence. Kentucky has the fourth place—due also to her great whisky product.

When the Salem Statesman says that Mr. Kelly has been "removed" from the collectorship at Portland and approves a statement that it was "accomplished by an intrigue," it both falls into error and does injustice by a very unnecessary insinuation. Mr. Kelly has not been removed. His term of office has expired, and a successor has been designated. There was nothing in the nature of an intrigue about it. Mr. Shurtleff was recommended without any solicitation or suggestion on his own part, and even without his knowledge. We may suppose it was fair and right for those who wished to recommend him to do so as it was for others to recommend Mr. Kelly. Mr. Shurtleff has special knowledge of the duties of the position, is known as an excellent officer, has an unimpeachable character, and is and has ever been an unflinching republican. To assert that his appointment was the result of an "intrigue" implying that improper methods were employed to secure it, and that it ought not to have been made, is ungenerous and unnecessary. Mr. Shurtleff's service deserved this recognition, and it is almost wholly to his efficiency and management that the satisfactory administration of the office has for years been due.

We give place to a card from S. A. Clarke, in which he says he has come to the conclusion not to be a candidate for any position before the legislative assembly. He says also that "no honorable man has ever charged him with dishonorable conduct." The charges to which we referred, as having been made by the public press, were presented with great distinctness and circumstantiality, particularly by the News of this city, a well known paper published some years ago by Judge Bellinger. Should Mr. Clarke say that Judge Bellinger was not an honorable and responsible man it is probable the dictum would not receive public assent, where the two men are known. The article from the News in which Mr. Clarke is charged with having received bribes as clerk of the house, with the names of parties and different sums distinctly alleged to have been paid, we shall reproduce if occasion requires. But we shall do so only in pursuance of a duty of public journalism. Mr Clarke only becomes important enough to justify such attention when he offers himself as a candidate for a public trust.

The article on Wade Hampton's Virginia speech, on our first page, will hardly escape notice. Northern democrats will doubtless say, "We are not responsible for what Wade Hampton or other southern men say." Let it be observed, however, that Hampton and his southern coadjutors represent the head of the democratic party, while the organization at the north is the mere tail of it. Probably the people of the northern states will decide that the best way to defeat "the principles for which Lee and Jackson fought,"—the principles which, as Hampton says, the solid south is still contending for and hopes to win through the democratic party,—is to elect General Garfield.

The agony about the habeas corpus is up again. At all the democratic clubs the speakers are talking about it. They tell us with tremendous emphasis that this great muniment of liberty must be preserved. Well, yes. But after all is not the alibi the great bulwark of our liberties? It certainly is in more constant use than the habeas corpus. The alibi is the great charter. Down with the party that would assail the sacred alibi! Our Hancock clubs may add this to the catalogue of their campaign issues.

The railroad officials of Chicago give the number of immigrants who have passed through that city for the west during the past six months at 140,000, divided about as follows: Kansas, 15,000; Pacific states, 15,000; Iowa, 14,000; Minnesota, 12,000; Colorado, 12,000; Manitoba, 12,000; southwest, 12,000; Wisconsin, 11,000; Nebraska, 11,000; Dakota and Montana, 11,000; Texas and south, 4000. In six months the movement through Chicago alone includes people enough to form a state.

The outrageous inequalities and other undesirable features of the rotten borough system of Connecticut, are brought out in strong relief by the late census. Four towns with a population of 4000 send to the state house of representatives as many legislators as do New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport and Waterbury, with 150,000 inhabitants. The citizens of the realm of wooden nutmegs must be in love with this peculiar system of representation, they endure it so complacently.

According to the Springfield Republican—certainly not a witness favorable to the republican party—the difference between the political situation now and at this time of the year in 1876 is that then the democrats were sure of Indiana and hoped to carry Ohio; now the republicans are sure of Ohio and hope to carry Indiana.

Secretary Schurz, in his German speech at San Francisco, said: "Is it not true that democracy has never kept a principle long enough to allow the people to understand it?" It is true. Since slavery went, the democracy has never kept the same set of principles five years in succession.

Clerk Cann, it is said, will leave Oregon and settle at Seattle. This indicates despair of ever seeing the old order of things restored at the capital of Oregon. Boss Chadwick is still out of a job. Any one in need of a good steady drawer of warrants, please address, etc.

Several inquiries have recently been addressed to us for information as to whether the bill to grant pensions to soldiers of the Mexican war, recently discussed in congress, has become a law. We think it has not.

OFFICE OF THE
PACIFIC MUTUAL
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, July 1st, 1880.

To all Desirous of Securing the Benefits of Life Insurance:

The first consideration with applicants for life insurance is, or at least should be, SAFETY. Will the Money Paid out for the Policy be Prudently Invested? Are the Affairs of the Company Honestly and Efficiently Administered? When the Policy Becomes a Claim, will it be Promptly Paid, and thus the object which induced the payment of the premiums be fully attained? These are queries naturally suggested, and the character of the answers determines the course of the questioner and the selection of his Company.

In this connection, the Managers of the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY respectfully beg leave to submit the following facts and statements concerning their Company:

1. Since its organization, A. D. 1868, it has paid 343 death losses, on policies amounting in the aggregate to $902,975.

2. It has Paid to Policy Holders, for Matured Endowments, Dividends, and Surrender Values, in Round Numbers, $1,000,000.

3. Its losses have been paid Promptly and without Litigation. No judgment arising from a Policy claim has ever been rendered against it, and it has no suits of this character pending.

4. It has repeatedly been examined by Sworn Experts, and most through and searching investigations, made of its condition and business, and IN EVERY CASE its Solvency and Trustworthiness have been Demonstrated.

5. Its Stockholders and Directors are widely known as among the most capable business men and ablest financiers of the State of California, and the integrity of their management is unquestioned.

6. The laws of the State including the constitutional provisions affecting corporations, are of the most rigid character, such as to make the Company one of the safest institutions of its kind.

Section 3 of Article XII of the NEW CONSTITUTION of the State of California, is as follows:

SEC. 3. Each stockholder of a corporation or joint stock association shall be individually and personally liable for such proportion of all its debts and liabilities contracted or incurred during the time he was a stockholder, as the amount of stock or shares owned by him bears to the whole of the subscribed capital stock or shares of the corporation or association. The Directors or Trustees of corporations and joint stock associations shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors and stockholders for all moneys embezzled or misappropriated by the officers of such corporation or joint stock association, during the term of office of such Director or Trustee.

7. Its policy contracts contain no restrictions upon residence or travel, and its forms of insurance are unusually attractive. The Low Rate, Deposit Endowment, and Mutual Investment Policies, are peculiar to this Company, and offer advantages to the insured which are not surpassed, if equaled by those of any other Company.

8. When desired, Policies can be registered by the Insurance Commissioners of California, on the payment of a moderate fee; and a policy holder in the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of California has then the absolute guarantee of the State of California that the money held by this Company against the contingency of his death is secured by bonds and mortgages deposited in the State Treasury. With December 31st 1879, the Company closed its eleventh year, and in so doing affords the only instance on record in which a life insurance company in the eleventh year of its existence was enabled to pay its death losses from interest receipts; not only was this done but in addition thereto a considerable surplus remained.

Believing ourselves entitled to the confidence and business of such as propose affecting insurance upon human life, we solicit their patronage, and pledge ourselves to discharge to the best of our ability the important and sacred trust devolved upon us.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUG. 20, 1880.

SHIP VALIANT.—The American ship Valiant arrived at Kalama yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in tow of the steamer Willamette Chief. Capt. Pease acted as pilot and brought the vessel safely to her destination. The Valiant brings over 2000 tons of railroad material for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. All the cargo will be discharged at Kalama. The vessel experienced a rough voyage from New York. She sailed on the 15th of March, and on the 25th struck a hurricane which lost her all between decks, including mess beef and pork for the voyage. Captain Daley picked up from passing vessels enough to carry him along, thus preventing the necessity of entering a strange port. Off Rio he spoke the Her[illegible] Rigby, from Liverpool to San Francisco, and in latitude 40 N, 138 W, passed the Brier[illegible], bound for Victoria. At Baker's bay 20 tons of iron were discharged, which brought the draught of the Valiant up to 20 feet and 6 inches.

FIRE AT SALEM.—The fire department of Salem was called out about 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening by a fire breaking out in the stable in rear of the residence of Louis Byrne. Owing to the scarcity of water and the demoralized condition of the hydrants in that neighborhood great difficulty was experienced in extinguishing the flames, and two stables were burned down in spite of the best efforts of the fire laddies. In addition to the loss of his stable, Mr. Byrne likewise lost a valuable horse, which perished in the flames. The adjoining two stables belonged to John Knight, and the Evangelical church parsonage. Mr. Knight's residence was also damaged to the extent of $50 or $60 which, however, was covered by insurance. The stables were worth probably $300. Mr. Byrne's family was absent from the city, but John E. Young, with commendable zeal, superintended the protection of the house, which had a narrow escape from destruction. It has been very generally suggested that an occasional "flushing" out of the hydrants by the water company would prove decidedly beneficial and prevent a repetition of the disadvantages labored under Wednesday evening by the department. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

OUR SCHOOL FOR DEAF MUTES.—Rev. P. S. Knight of Salem, is in the city looking up the interests of the school for the deaf and dumb. There are several of these unfortunate children in Portland that have never been in school, and the managers would like to have the names and addresses of any who have not thus far made themselves known. The school will re-open for the next term on Wednesday, Sept. 1st. Under present arrangements pupils are required to furnish clothing, books and bedding. Tuition and board are free to all residents of this state who are judged by the board of education to be not in a situation to pay. Pupils from Washington territory are provided for by a law passed by the territorial legislature several years ago. It is hoped by those interested in the subject that the coming legislature will make such provision for this school as to put it on a more permanent basis than heretofore. Until Monday next Mr. Knight may be addressed at 211, Twelfth street.

NEARLY DROWNED.—A lad, whose name has not been ascertained, while swimming with some boys near L street in East Portland yesterday, got beyond his depth. He sank twice and was going down the third time when a German lad named Opitz sprang to the rescue. With great difficulty Opitz succeeded in bringing his half-drowned companion in safety to the shore. With rare presence of mind, the boys rolled the semi-conscious lad about and gave him a vigorous rubbing, which soon brought him out all right again. He will doubtless profit by the lesson of experience, and will exercise more caution in the future about venturing into the water past his depth.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—A carpenter named Kent left his home in this city last Tuesday morning for the purpose of going to his work. Since that time nothing has been seen or heard of him. At the time Kent was complaining of not feeling well. As he failed to return home, his wife thought that possibly he might have been taken ill and gone to one of the hospitals. She visited both the St. Vincent and Good Samaritan, but ascertained he was not there. His sudden and unexplained disappearance is quite mysterious. His wife is half distracted over the affair. Any information concerning the whereabouts of the missing man will be thankfully received.

THROWN FROM A HORSE.—A little daughter of Mr. C. A. Malarkey met with a very narrow escape Wednesday evening. She was out riding a mettlesome little pony, and stopped for a moment to chat with a companion at the corner of West Park and Washington. The animal became frightened and making a sudden bound the loosely buckled saddle turned and threw the child, whose foot caught in the stirrup. The pony ran, dragging the girl face downward in the dust across the street. Very fortunately for her, her foot dropped out of the stirrup, and the only injury she sustained was a scratched nose and soiled attire.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—The steamer A. A. McCully, under charter to the ladies' society of the Baptist church, will leave the Salmon street dock at 8 o'clock to-night for an excursion to Oregon City. Upon the arrival of the boat at that place the excursionists will proceed to the Baptist church, where a sociable will be given for their entertainment. Good music and splendid moonlight scenes, with the social features of the occasion, form an attractive programme. East Portland can embark at Dodd & Sliker's wharf, and will be landed there upon their return.

CALENDAR.—The O. R. & N. Co. has not yet published the calendar of sailing days of their steamers. These calendars are issued about every two months, and are very convenient as a source of reference to the public. The last date on the calendar which was last published was August 6th. The non-appearance of the calendar was attributable to the delay in the sailing of the steamship Columbia. As soon as that vessel reaches San Francisco and the date of her sailing is determined by the company, the calendar will be issued at once.

THE BARLOW ROAD.—H. Kelly, of Oak Grove, Wasco county, reached this city yesterday, having crossed the Cascade Mountains via the Barlow road. He reports that the highway is still covered in some places with snow, while on either side of the road the snow is four or five feet deep. A party is now engaged in improving the road and is doing good work.

PROMOTED.—The Astorian says: "Mr. A. Racine, the gentlemanly and favorite steward, has been promoted to assistant commissary in the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company. This is a deserving tribute, as he has been a faithful servant to the company for nearly twelve years."

"CHILDREN, GET ON DE ROBES!"—Let's see. Friday's the 20th, the day the planets are going to collide. Those who have the time and inclination can get their ascension robes ready. Admission free.

"OASIS" ARRIVED.—The ship Oasis, which is laden with railroad material for the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, arrived at the port yesterday. Her cargo will be discharged at once.

GONE DOWN.—The ship Strathern went down the river yesterday to complete her cargo of wheat for Europe. She was in tow of the steamer Alice.

THE SUPREME COURT.—The supreme court has adjourned until Tuesday next, when the business of the 4th district will be taken up.

ANNIVERSARY.—The Portland Turn Verein will celebrate their anniversary by a picnic at the Gambrinus Gardens on Sunday, Aug. 29th.

APPOINTMENT.—Eugene D. White has been appointed commissioner of deeds for the state of Missouri, to reside in Portland, Oregon.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The Dundee Land Investment Company has now under construction 10 houses within the city, all of which are intended for sale on the installment plan. Full particulars will be found in another column.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams, dealers in human hair, have just arrived from the east and will remain in Portland for a short time. Their stock is large, and prices to suit the times. See card elsewhere.

For the next 10 days the bankrupt stock of dry goods at the corner of Second and Morrison streets will be sold at a great sacrifice—in fact will be slaughtered. Such tempting inducements will be held out to the public that no difficulty will be experienced in finding purchasers. Everybody in Portland should call and examine the stock. Such bargains are offered that no one is too poor to purchase.

STATE CONVENTION.—The state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will assemble at the hall of division No. 1 on Stark street, on next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time state delegate Thos. Dealey and the other delegates from Clatsop county are expected to arrive.

The largest stock of school books just received by Chas. Hirstel & Co. Give them a call and you will save money.

BRIEF NOTES.

Rusticators are returning.

Yesterday was a sweltering day.

County court will convene to-day.

The Chinese theater is a big novelty.

Scarcely two more weeks of vacation.

M. E. conference in session at Eugene City.

No more opposition between here and Vancouver.

Special term of state circuit court on September 5th.

So the Portland printers don't picnic—at least for the present.

The sewer on Morrison street was being flushed out yesterday.

The steamer State of California will be due here to-morrow evening.

Just a little shower would do a good deal of good—atmospherically.

The smoke was so dense yesterday that it could be cut into solid blocks—almost.

IMPORTANT TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

Text of the Ordinance Relating to Connections between Vaults, Cess-Pools, Etc., with Sewers.

The following is the full text of the ordinance passed at the last meeting of the council to compel privy vaults and drains to be connected with street sewers. It has received the mayor's approval.

An ordinance to compel privy vaults and drains to be connected with street sewers:

The city of Portland does ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. No person shall construct or maintain or suffer to be or remain upon his or her premises, or premises under his or her control, any privy, or privy vault, cess-pool, sink or drain, within one hundred feet of any street in which there is a terra-cotta, ironstone, cement, or iron-pipe sewer without connecting such privy, privy vault, cess-pool, sink or drain with such sewer.

Sec. 2. All persons who have or use any privy, privy vault, cess pool or drain upon any premises owned or occupied by them within one hundred feet of any street in which there is a sewer of terra-cotta, ironstone, cement or iron pipe, shall connect such privy or cess-pool with such sewer on or before Nov. 1, 1880.

Sec. 3. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding $50 and each day's continuance of such privy or cess-pool, without such connection shall constitute a new offense.

Passed the common council Aug. 18, 1880.

R. L. DURHAM, Auditor and Clerk.

Approved Aug. 19, 1880.

D. P. THOMPSON, Mayor.

PERSONAL.

Alonzo Leland, of the Lewiston Teller is now in the city.

Col. C. H. Larabee, of Seattle, gave us a call yesterday. He will canvass Oregon for Hancock.

Mr. W. B. Wilshire of the Urbant & Macneale Safe Company, arrived on the last steamer from San Francisco.

Mr. T. F. Oakes, vice president of the O. R. and N. Co., has gone to Eastern Oregon and Washington territory.

Mr. E. S. Kearney, United States marshal for Oregon, will return this evening from a two weeks' official visit to Washington territory.

The following northwesterners are registered at San Francisco hotels: E. P. Atalis and S. B. Smith, of Washington territory; L. G. Davidson and J. B. Paradise, of Portland.

Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer Oregon was Col. I. S. Tichenor, of the United States revenue department who is on a hurried trip to Oregon. Col. T. is chief of the quartermasters' division in the treasury department.

TO THE FARMERS, DEALERS AND OUR FRIENDS GENERALLY.

Having been informed that the impression is prevailing among some of our customers that our stock and store was entirely burned up, we take pleasure in announcing that the fire Monday morning, the 16th inst., by which our warehouse, which we generally used for storing unseasonable goods, was burned, we had only seven Hapy four spring wagons and eight Osborne self-binding harvesters burned, the balance of the goods belonging to D. M. Osborne & Co., and that our net loss will not exceed $2000, and may fall below that sum. We have a full line of seasonable goods now in stock in our store, and the loss by the fire will in no way interfere with or cripple our business hereafter.

THE CHINESE THEATER.

Opening of this New Temple of Thespis Last Night.

A Chinese theatrical performance, like a Chinaman, is peculiar. Their theatres are very much like American institutions of the same kind as far as the auditorium is concerned, but in the stage and appurtenances there is marked dissimilarity. They have no drop curtain, no scenery except a stationary partition with two doors, one for exit and one for entrance. The stage in Coung Ye Lung & Co's. new theater, corner of Second and Alder streets, which was opened yesterday, is about twenty by fifty feet. Against the partition is placed paraphernalia required during the play, and in an alcove at the center of the stage is the orchestra. The trappings are of rich design, red and bright yellow being the predominant colors. The auditorium is fitted with seats on a gradual upward inclination towards the back of the house, and a gallery runs around the room, with six boxes adjoining the stage. A handsome six light crystal chandelier suspended from a dome over the center of the building, five brackets on the stage and about the auditorium, and everything nicely painted, gives the theater a decidedly neat appearance.

The opening performance began at 4 P. M. and lasted till past midnight. At 7 P. M., (our Chinese critic depended on the advertisement and did not put in an appearance sooner), the theater was crowded, five-sixths of the audience being Celestials and one-sixth Caucasians. About 30 Chinese women occupied seats in the gallery, set apart for the gentler sex. The play presented is entitled "The Treaty between the Six Asiatic Nations," and is embellished with the incidents connected with that treaty. The play embraces every shade of acting from light comedy to heavy tragedy. To the American observer the performance could be only a pantomime, except the gymnastic exercises, which were sandwiched between histrionic scenes. Their tumbling, jumping, twisting and contortions showed a high degree of skill, and were thoroughly enjoyed by the entire audience. Our regular critic felt himself unable, on account of his ignorance of the Chinese tongue, to correctly report the performance. Wong Lee offered his services for the occasion, and here are some of his remarks:

The Chinese theater differs from New Market because the performance began on time; the actors knew their lines and their cues, and also knew how to act; there were no quarrels between the leading lady and the soubrette, and the star and the leading man; there were no bouquets bought by members of the company and sent to themselves by the usher; there were not half a hundred deadheads; there were no tedious waits between acts, but there were some tedious acts between waits; and, lastly, the Chinese theater had a much louder orchestra. It consisted of a fiddle, two banjos, a machine that made a noise like two boys with sticks striking a paling fence going at full speed, and three pairs of cymbals—one pair as large as washtubs. The ensemble playing was a happy medium between the sounds of two pigs under a gate and the melody of a boiler factory, with a slight preponderance of the latter. The most thrilling scene was when ten actors, dressed kind of like a fairy, and kind of like an Indian, and kind of like a turkey gobbler, came out and threatened to wipe the ground with their opponents' army. They tackled an old woman, threw her across a block, sawed away for a minute with wooden swords, after which the woman turned a summersault and walked of the stage, dead. (Female characters are assumed by men, as women are not allowed on the Chinese stage.) The heroine of the play had her face painted like the sunrise of a six-bit chromo, and four young Romeos, after squandering a week's salary or picnic tickets and boat rides for the idol of their hearts, without gaining her affections, threatened to have the life's be-lud of the other three. The low comedian was funnier than Billy Kersands, of the Hyer sisters' combination, and he was, if possible uglier. Taken all in all, the first Chinese performance must be recorded as a grand financial and artistic success. The company will remain in the city about a month and give a performance every evening.

GRANT CUP RACE.

Mr. William Reid has kindly tendered to the committee of arrangements the use of the steamer City of Salem for Saturday afternoon. She will leave her dock at the foot of Morrison street at 4:20 P. M., and with the judges, referee, press and band follow the race from the start to the finish. Those who care to have a nearer view of the race can do so by going on board. A fare of fifty cents will be charged each gentleman; lady accompanying free.

The crew of the Portland Rowing Association has entered. It consists of: A. S. Whiting, bow; Fred. C. Huntoon, 2; Chas. H. Stratton, 3; H. L. Hatch, stroke; Fred. G. Buffum, substitute.

The following are the entries by the Maple Leaf Rowing Association. The boat Thunderer will be used, manned by: J. J. Loggie, bow; H. Lewis, 2; J. Seely, 3; E. H. Allen, stroke.

LETTER OF THANKS.

GARDINER, Oregon, Aug. 16, 1880.

Mayor D. P. Thompson, Portland, Oregon, Dear Sir:—We desire to thank you, on behalf of the homeless of this place, and through you the Portland contributors to the Gardiner relief fund. Their names will long be remembered in Gardiner and their generosity will I hope in time be paid by the recipients to others equally in need.

The amount received together with contributions from other places has been divided among the families of the place who were rendered homeless by the fire, and is sufficient to nearly purchase lumber for new cottages. Already six new houses are in process of construction, and people are feeling greatly encouraged.

The committee think there will be no further need of aid, and add their thanks to those of the recipients of your most liberal remittance. By order of the relief committee,

GEO. H. EMERSON, ch'n.

W. D. McGEE, Sec'y.

SCHEFFLER'S BRANDY.

SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA, EDGE HILL, VACUUM DISTILLED BRANDY BEFORE THE MEDICAL MEN.

At a council of eminent physicians of San Francisco, held in June, 1879, it was resolved that after thorough tests and analysis, Wm. Scheffler's Vacuum Distilled Grape Brandy was the purest brandy to be obtained. His process left it free from all deleterious drugs so common, especially in the imported brandies, three-fourths of which are nothing but grain whisky transformed through their formula of doctoring flavors, oil of cognac, ether and other drugs equally poisonous. Most druggists, as also the first class bars in California sell Scheffler's Sanitary Vacuum Distilled Brandy, as well as his Good Old Edge Hill Port, Sherry, Amber, Hock, Riesling and Claret Wines. No wines in California equal those from the Old Edge Hill Vineyards of St. Helena. GEO. H. BEACH, Agent,

That Iron is Valuable as a Medicine has long been known, but it is only since its preparation in the particular form of Peruvian Syrup that its great power over disease has been brought to light. Its effect in cases of dyspepsia and debility is most salutary.

LEGAL AND COMMERCIAL UNION MERCANTILE AGENCY.

We have used your Commercial Agency, also others and take pleasure in saying we like yours as well as any we have tried, and think it equally as good as those which cost more money.

NORDYKE & MARMON CO., Detroit.

Your Agency is of great benefit to us in obtaining the standing of men at the time we wish to deal with them. We like it better than any Agency we ever belonged to.

W. N. FLINT & Co.,
Wholesale Granite Dealers, Monson, Mass.

Your Agency is certainly one of the best mediums for collecting in the country. We have tried them all and pronounce yours the best.

J. M. FAHNESTOCK & Co.,
Wholesale Soap Dealers, Pittsburg.

One of the strongest points in favor of this Agency, is, that our list of correspondents is composed of reliable lawyers who are under a contract. They are not a word list, and our business is transacted openly and above board. We do not overestimate a friend, or to vent some petty malice underestimate others.

Thirty thousand business men use this Agency. We invite criticism and challenge comparison, and are in the field to stay.

THE YAKIMA BASIN.

Large Tracts of Vacant Lands--An Interesting Field for Immigrants

A Drive Over the Simcoe Mountains--Scenery, Etc

YAKIMA CITY Aug 10 1880

To the tourist as well as for the immigrant farmer one of the most attractive sections of the Columbia valley in the diversified beauty of its natural scenery and large tracts of valuable unoccupied farming lands is that traversed by the stage road extending from the Dalles via Goldendale to Yakima City and Ellensburg. The view from the summit of the Klickitat hills directly opposite the Dalles, is admitted by competent critics to be one of the finest in the upper country Thence, continuing on over the hills open out the marvelous landscapes of the valley of the Klickitat, fringed by the timbered hills of the Simcoe range, while ever and anon the more prominent peaks of the Cascades rise dimly in the perspective From Goldendale the road soon leaps into the timber and passes over one of the Simcoe range of mountains Here the scenery is ever changeable and frequently grand As you pass on over the summit, the view of ranges covered with firs and pines and snowy peaks is succeeded by deep and smiling valleys, through which course a, short intervals the limpid waters of streams fresh from the mountains snows Here are beautiful groves of the quaking asp, cottonwood ,and balm flowers in boundless profusion, of almost every conceivable variety and hue, painting the hillside and peeping up beside the road, attract and enchant the traveler until his eye is weary o' beholding Then descending the long canyon through which inclosed by steep rocky walls of basalt where but recently madly dashed the swollen waters of the foaming little Setas, its rapid fall causing the formation of an endless chain of minute cascades, but which now siren-like flows gently, murmuring as though totally oblivious of its tempestuous spells

The stage station and stopping place for the night is reached at 7 P M. We would here remark "en parenthesis that, for general excellence, the meals served at Lillie's stations, at the "Summit" and "Setas," are not excelled, if equaled, upon any other stage route in the upper country. At early morn an eight mile drive brings us down upon the great Yakima plain of the Simcoe reservation This valley or plain covers an area of over 40 miles in length from east to west by nearly 20 in breadth, or 800 square miles It presents a perfectly even surface, with an almost imperceptible incline to the south of fifteen feet to the mile, the central portion of the tract, simply from the absence or distance from the various water courses presents a somewhat arid appearance, but the, eastern and western portions which are naturally irrigated by the Yakima, Setas and other streams, are covered with a most luxuriant growth of wild vegetation of rye grass, averaging four to seven feet in height There are thousands of tons apparently unused, either for pasturage or hay The soil, as exhibited upon the banks of the sloughs, etc is from eight to fifteen feet in depth and of wonderful richness. Considering its extent, general desirability of conformation, etc., we doubt if there exists upon this coast a more perfect garden spot. Directly across the central par of this plain nearly twenty miles, and passing through the Yakima gap—a natural pass formed by the waters of the Yakima river in cutting its channel through the high range or divide—and we abruptly enter the pretty little town of Yakima The most strikingly attractive features of the place are the finely cultivated gardens in squares bordered with Lombardy poplars, which completely embower the neat and cozy residences and the beautiful groves of cottonwood, balm, etc., with their surrounding luxuriant growth of wild vegetation, upon the banks of the Yakima which forms the eastern boundary of the place, adds in no inconsiderable degree to the picturesque beauty of the locality Then the extensive plain between the Yakima and Atahnum gradually rising to the north and west, interspersed with occasional slightly elevated plateaus or benches, and long double lines of finely improved farms adjoining the timber fringed banks of the various water courses, is laid before you in a single panoramic view. Commercially, Yakima City occupies a position of much strategic advantage in guarding the only gateway through the high range of hills which would intercept the main highway from the Columbia river to the Cascade mountains, and separate the extensive agricultural tracts which immediately surround the place, consisting of several hundred square miles, most of which is still awaiting reclamation and settlement These lands are of the sage brush order, requiring irrigation, but when thus reclaimed, the extent of their productive capacity, but for the evidence of similar lands now under cultivation in this vicinity, would seem beyond belief, reproducing an average of from 25 to 50 bushels of wheat per acre. Vegetables including tomatoes, corn, etc, yield most plentifully, while the climate resulting from the lower elevation of this basin, is such as to develop and ripen into perfection the various fruits, including peaches, grapes, etc Hops, of which there are this year over 60 acres under cultivation, will yield their usual average of a ton per acre of the best quality Notwithstanding its comparative isolation from a market by reason of the lack of transportation facilities, the farmers as a class, of this section, are in fairly comfortable circumstances. This however is largely owing to the fact that the soil and climate are such as to permit of a more varied system of farming, with never a failure of a crop

Although there is much desirable unoccupied land to the north of Yakima City yet by far the most extensive tracts, quite as good as any yet taken, and upon which there is comparatively little settlement, are those adjoining the Yakima on the east, known as the Moxsee valley, and the Konewock or lower Yakima section The Moxsee basin consists of over forty square miles, the reclamation of which has been commenced by a ditch taken from the Yakima river at a point just below the mouth of the Natches The charter for this ditch calls for 10 000 inches of water. It can also be made available for manufacturing purposes by being graduated to a precipitous bluff, thus acquiring a fall of 33 feet or 140 horse power also an additional power by a 15 foot fall of the tail water from a similar bluff further on This undertaking will afford an excellent opportunity for those desiring to secure farms consisting of a section of land under the Desert land act in addition to homestead, pre-emption, etc. Over one half of this tract or that portion near the foothills, and upon the upper benches, where grows bunch grass, it has only recently been demonstrated, will grow good crops of grain without the assistance of irrigation

The Konewock, or lower Yakima section extends from the Yakima Gap down the east side of the Yakima river a distance of 40 miles, with an average width of over three miles Although a small ditch taken from the Yakima is now being constructed to reclaim portions of this tract but if undertaken in a sufficiently comprehensive manner, this entire section consisting of over one hundred square miles, could be supplied with sufficient water for irrigating purposes at an average outlay on the part of the original land owners for the construction of a 10-foot ditch, of less than one dollar per acre Aside from the enhanced value of the lands thus reclaimed, this would afford a most profitable investment either to co-operative labor in the form of a colony or to capital that might lend its assistance This ditch taken from the Yakima near Yakima City returning its waters to those of the Yakima a distance of over 40 miles nearer its mouth would possess the additional advantages of being used for fluming and manufacturing purposes considering the vast wealth of timber upon the upper Yakima which could thus be brought within convenient distance of even those settlers most remote from the timbered regions besides facilitating the driving of railroad ties etc. by avoiding that portion of the river most difficult and expensive to use for that purpose as evidenced by the recent drive of Harkness & Co to whom such a ditch would this season alone have saved nearly one fourth the cost of its construction Then again the value of the timber planted along this irrigated line upon land adjoining the ditch and within the limits of its grant would in five years pay for the original cost of its construction. This and similar enterprises; but upon a smaller scale present fine opportunities for colonies to secure large tracts of land in this section which can be depended upon to yield a regular average of over 30 bushels of wheat per acre with all the essential conditions of soil and climate for successfully carrying out a diversified system of farming

THURSDAY EVENING Aug 19

The financial situation locally is unchanged the supply of available funds being regarded as ample to meet the present or any near future requirements

Eastern advices report the continuance of shipments of gold from Europe and although the rates of exchange are so low that a further decline would make further shipments unprofitable it does not follow that such a decline and consequent movement will take place Trade is now running in favor of this country but Europe holds many of the U S bonds and it is said that as many of these bonds will mature in 1881, and as the premium on them in New York is now so large that they yield to the investor less than English consols the natural tendency would be to send them home instead of sending gold and thus prevent any large movement of the latter in this direction Probably this would be quite as well for this country for if we should receive a large amount of gold an inflation in prices of all commodities would be sure to follow which would tend to reduce home consumption restrict exports of domestic production agricultural mechanical and manufacturing and attract increased imports by making our markets the best in the world in which to sell Besides that, we do not need the gold for circulation for we have an abundance of currency which is practically as good as gold much of which is lying idle in the banks, so that we have apparently reached the point of having a volume of currency equal to the wants of trade

The movement in general trade is light as it usually is at this time of the year Farmers are busy in the harvest, and are doing but little trading even with their local dealers. There have been a few changes, but prices generally are only maintained There is a firmer feeling in coffee and though sales are made at the same figures prevailing for some time past, holders are by no means inclined to urge sales, and especially decline to make any concession Rice also feels the effect of a recent advance at other points, and is ½@1c higher for best grades with some scarcity in the market. Some brands of fine salt are also held at an advance of 10 per cent on former quotations Sugar teas etc. are steady and though imports are light just now stocks are ample to meet the wants of the trade and dealers have large orders already filled and to arrive

Domestic Produce.

The week specially under review this evening has been one of general dullness in this department of trade The bulk of the wool clip has been moved, and prices have shown a general downward tendency, with nothing in the advices from abroad to stimulate buyers to pick up the remainder of the surplus.

A comprehensive review of the situation of the wheat trade in San Francisco is given by telegraph below The same feeling is manifest in our local market, buyers being disinclined to operate unless in present special need at anything above minimum rates, which cannot be said to be over $1 35, although choice lots of milling have sold during the week anywhere within the range of $1 35@1 40 Some shippers say to-day that the cereal is worth in this market nothing over $1 30 but quotations are also nearly nominal the aggregate of transactions being unimportant.

Flour is weaker and extra brands at $5 per barrel are decidedly in buyers favor There are indications that before the month closes prices will drop to $4 75 for the leading brands and lower grades to correspondingly lower prices As will be seen in our dispatches, the San Francisco market for Oregon extras is quoted at $5 the same figure noted by some dealers here, but sales are slow in the home market at that price

Oats are coming forward only in small quantity, and prices are kept up by the local consumption, for which the demand is fair.

Dried fruits and provisions are scarce, and some advance for choice bacon and lard might be had if there were any such offered Our quotations embrace the range of prices paid to first hands

Dairy products have been in good demand for several days, and all good lots offering have been taken at full rates. Eggs are in fair supply at 22½c per dozen

Other products are steady at quotations.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET REVIEW.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 19 —The Commercial News, in the weekly market review, says There is little change to note in the wheat market which continues quite irregular and prices vary so greatly as to make it impossible to give accurate quotations in the ordinary form For No 2, wheat at the range is pretty definitely fixed at $1 30@1 35 per cental, though an occasional transaction at $1 37½ is reported In such cases the wheat is of superior quality Off grades of wheat are hard to sell and prices range from $1 12½@1 25 per cental and between that and $1 30 per cental Some wheat has been sold that on active market would pass for fair No 2, and for No 1 wheat the range is $1 40@1 47½ per cental, while fancy lots to millers are reported from $1 47½ up to $1 55 per cental But these outside quotations are only obtainable for gilt edge lots for which the demand is limited except of course at concessions

Within the past week over 50 000 sacks of yellow corn have been sold to the Antioch and Bay View distilleries at private terms, but understood to be within $1@1 05 per cental This has absorbed the bulk of the stock remaining on hand and better prices are hoped for At present the market is quiet at $1 02½ for large yellow

Choice chevalier barley is in demand and 400 tons, said to be the finest lot in the state yesterday sold for export on private terms, but known to be above current quotations Feed barley is steady with a fair demand

The bag market is dull and irregular at 11¼@11¾ for standard goods the outside prices being the rate asked by the combination

The merchandise market is quiet

Butter and cheese were in good supply and easy at quotations notwithstanding heavy receipts

Potatoes—Market remains firm

Hides—Shade weaker

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease hesitate in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and [illegible] and permit those diseases to [illegible] until their constitutions become corrupted their organism broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death become a welcome messenger to carry them out of miserable existence

Catarrhal

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts

1 That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local and usually constitutional

2 That, being constitutional the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies

3 That impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs thus poisoning the Digestive Respiratory and Genito urinary organs

4 That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa Bronchitis Leucorrhœa and Consumption

5 That Smokes Douches Inhalations and Insoluble Snuffs cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named

6 That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for and the quality of being absorbed by the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible It not only relieves it cures Catarrh at any stage Home testimony
